CATHOLIC U. BEATS RANDOLPH MACON

In an interesting game yesterday at Brookland field, Catholic University had no trouble defeating Randelph-Macon College, of Virginia, by 3 to 0.

Marsion proved a puzzle for a few in-nings, but in the sixth Catholic Univer-sity bunched two hits and scored one run, and in the eighth inning, without a hit, they scored two runs. Walter Ca-hill and Don Johnson, got two hits apiece. The score: piece. The score: RANDOLPH-MACON.

BOBBY BOYER SECOND

Bowle, Md., April 4.—The haltermen were busy as bumblebees today at Prince the numbers out of seven run-ups were in order.

Weather conditions did not keep the attendance down, and as a result specu-lation was brisk.

The fourth race, a selling affair for ree-year-olds and upwards, at seven three-year-olds and upwards, at seven furlongs out of the "chute," brought five horses to the barfier, and Between Us was installed the public's choice on his good performance of Monday, when he beat a good field. Phil Ungar, who was recently acquired by Zollicoffer and Fones, ran a tip-top race, and got a ride by Johnny McTaggart that landed him a winner by a neck from Between Us. inner by a neck from Between Us while Scaramouch managed to get into the third pocket.

A good thing nearly came over in the third event, when Bobby Boyer, at a long price, was just beaten in the last jump by Mrs. J. Phillips' Viley, while the favorite, Ancon, was third, beaten off two lengths. Right at the finish Viley was bearing out badly, and Bobby Boyer would surely have won in another stride. Brighouse, who was looked upon as a sure thing in the following race, disappointed his backers by finishing in the third hole. Sir Dyke, well supported, managed to win by a head from Anavri.

Comedian Holds Down First Base Astride a High Stool-Shaw Works Five Innings.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing baseball team tackled the Nationals in the Florida Avenue park yesterday and met the same fate handed out other local amateur teams. Washington won 12 to 2, and could have rolled up a larger score had it been necessary.

Nick Altrock, first basing it for the professionals, while astrice a high stool in the final inning, together with "Floy" Williams, the bureau manager in a uniform on the coaching lines, were easily the features. Mrs. Williams, mild mannered little chap in citizen's clothes, was a regular village cut up in baseball togs. Altrock was funny because no matter what he does, it is to laugh. The Nationals hardly got good practice out of the game, but the combat served its purpose, and but for the raw, cold weather a big crowd would undoubtedly have turned out. Griffith booked the game to amateurs of Washington that he was with them. It was a compliment to the bureau crowd just as compliments had previously been handed to the Cardinals of Alexandria and Bill Malone's Claren-Jim Shaw pitched five innings and did

He was touched up for seven hits and one run. Sam Rice, who finished the game, yielded three hits and also a tally the run counting while Altrock was pull-ing off his foolishness on first base. The Nationals had little trouble bat ting the trio of Bureau pitchers. Kelley and Lyons were hammered the hardest Second Baseman Roache, of the ama-teurs, collected three hits out of four times up. The score: WASHINGTON. ABR H BB 68 68 60 PO A E
